

However, it is my opinion that Nazism, the effect of Communism, cannot be liquidated in its persecution complex until the religious in high places, in synagogue and finance, radio and press, attack the cause, attack it forthright, and the errors and the spread of Communism, together with all our co-nationals who support it.

I will satisfy myself simply by drawing to your attention that since the time of Christ, Jewish persecution only followed, only followed after Christians were first persecuted, persecuted either by exploiters within their own ranks as in the Middle Ages, or by the enemies from without as in our own day. Many histories in fact a vast majority of them maintain that the Jews were persecuted because of their social philosophy. And parallel with their persecution has been the persecution of Christians, not for their social philosophy as historians point out, but for their religion. Relative to Christian persecution in our day in this most enlightened day of the 20th Century, witness the price that Christians have paid to uphold their religion against those who were anti-religionists, to uphold their cloister against those who were anti-Christ, to uphold their patriotism, their nationalism against those who were unpatriotic and international. Between the years 1917 and 38, more than 20 million Christians were murdered by the Communistic government in Russia. Between these same years, not 400 million dollars, but 40 billion dollars at a conservative estimate of Christian property was appropriated by the Lenins and Trotskys, the Zornoriffs and the Commoniffs, the Litvinoffs and the Lupinskys (?), by the atheistic Jews and Gentiles both of Russia. Those were the desperate days when Christians were not expelled far from their native land, oh no, they were targets for the machine guns which beat out a tattoo against human hearts, incredible days when the altars of Christ were desecrated, and the servants of Christ were massacred on every multiplying Calvaries.
